

Making schools safer.....

and more efficient is what we do! For your consideration, we have taken the top 10 products and services especially suited for school administration, safety, and litigation avoidance (an increasing consideration for all of us!)

Our Super Products for schools include some non-traditional products as well as some new variations of standard items including new portable radios with both group and individual calling capability.

If you are already using radios in your school, we invite you to review some of our unique products that make your existing radios work better while enhancing safety, enhancing capabilities and dealing with the details of administration, planning, and regulatory compliance. Do you know the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) rules applicable to the use of school radios and the penalties for improper operation? If not, we invite you to review a special report at www.info4u.us/schoolstudy.pdf. We think you will find it to be very informative!

While we know that you may favor specific products or brands, we encourage you to look at alternatives – both ours and others to make sure you get the best value, both in terms of initial price as well as compatibility with future standards, cost of operation, reliability, and the functionality to meet your specific needs.

You may have heard about changes in the FCC regulations requiring a change for existing technical standards to a new narrow band technology. No change is required until 2013 but all of our equipment will meet all current and proposed FCC standards through 2017. That's just one example of value!

Uniqueness is another form of value and we have more unique products for schools than anybody. One example is our incredible Quick Assist system that allows office or class room personnel to silently summon assistance at the push of a button!

We have a simple request. If you are considering the purchase of communications equipment, let us know what you are considering, then let us offer our ideas and pricing. There is no obligation. If you wish, we will gladly meet with you at your convenience, help you with refining your needs, even help you in preparing specifications and planning service programs designed to take care of YOU!

We are ready when you are, and as near as your telephone. Just give us a call. We'll take it from there!
